PROJECTS

REVIEW DESK: WEB BASED SYSTEM

Designed and developed a web-based feedback management system with secure user authentication(sign-up/login/logout), custom feedback form creation, automatic time-bound form expiration, and downloadable report generation for submitted feedback data using Python and Flask.

BREAST CANCER PREDICTOR

This project is a web-based breast cancer prediction system developed using Google Colab with a simple machine learning module. It analyzes patient medical reports and related parameters to predict the likelihood of breast cancer. The system provides an early, data-driven indication to assist in timely diagnosis and better healthcare decisions
